ADVERTISEMENT, SPONSORSHIP & EXHIBITION BOOTH

The 7th Asian PGPR International Conference with the theme of “Regenerating Agriculture Through Beneficial Microbes for Improvement of Crop Productivity and Safety” is a platform for various stakeholders including academicians, scientists, students and players from agricultural industry to share, discuss and plan all aspects of plant growth-promoting rhizobacteria (PGPR) and its technologies as well as the importance of microbiome in agriculture. The three-day conference is organised by the Malaysian PGPR Society and Universiti Putra Malaysia as a local host on behalf of the Asian PGPR Society for Sustainable Agriculture. The conference expects participation from a wide range of stakeholders interested in learning the state-of-the-art best practices in PGPR.
